Mastery Families,

I hope you have an opportunity today to explore the online resources we shared yesterday. Together, we're going to get your child back into a regular academic routine!

As I mentioned, the second phase of our Home Academic Practice plan is to send printed materials directly to your home. To do so, we need to have an accurate home address for you. If your address has changed and you haven't already informed your school, please update it now by visiting this link. Through this link you can update your mailing address, phone number, and email. This takes 2 minutes. Please do so by Monday at 9 a.m. so we can start mailing materials home.

By the end of today you or your child should get a call from a Mastery teacher. If you don't, please complete this form and provide us two business days to call you. You are also welcome to call your school's principal or assistant principal – their phone numbers are on our website.

In the midst of all this craziness, Mastery schools are really stepping up to connect with students. Check out this read-along for students created by McGraw Elementary.

Mastery Strong,
